Dear Florida DEP,

I recommend limits on algae as well as increasing research into the chronic and acute health affects from exposure to algae. I ask you to draft limits for two types of cyanotoxins, including those found in Florida. Please follow the state's blue green algae task force created by Gov. Ron DeSantis also calling for limits on the toxic algae. In October, the task force concluded a six-month review recommending limits as well as increasing research into the chronic and acute health affects from exposure to algae.

Fighting the toxic algae in our waters is the most important thing your agency can do, for our health and economy.
