Subject: Florida water quality

My family and I moved to Florida because it was advertised as the Fishing Capital of the World. For years it was great but recently we have all been having problems breathing and unexplained health issues that seem to disappear after a few months when we leave town for the mountains of NC. A friend just sold his house in FL and moved to GA. I am seriously thinking of selling our house, the boats and leaving as well. I see no end to the direction things are going. I am so sad over what I have seen happen to the fishing industry - tackle shops, guides and the wildlife. The water has been disgusting and the fishing horrible. We can't even keep sea trout to eat anymore. Doesn't sound like paradise to me. Please do what you can to protect and restore what Florida has become known for. The diversity of ocean life is like no other. Please protect it because it is the right thing to do and because without clean water you have no tourism, no fishing no revenue. The problem is upstream. Let's stop it at the source.
