Subject: FI Water

We went fishing today in our boat in the Gulf of Mexico from Englewood, Florida. We did not catch any fish, except small 6 inch fish, and usually it's a good fishing day. We went about 8 miles out west from stump pass in 55 feet of water. We usually catch grunts, Lane Snapper and Red Grouper. We have been fishing in that area for about 4 years and we definitely noticed a difference in fishing since April of 2018. We own a vacation home in Englewood and have been visiting the area for 30 years. We feel Red Tide has effected our fishing and has killed the fish. It's very sad.

Please give us any information to let us know how this situation will improve. We do believe the nutrients/phosphorus from Lake Okachobe contribute to this.

We Hope for solutions today, there's too much devastation to marine wildlife and maybe birds too.
