Subject: Comment on Adopting Stricter Draft Standards

Hello,

My name is Rebecca Hodges and I am a South Florida Resident – I have lived here for over 30 years.

We need to set limits for toxic algae in our waters. There needs to be higher standards set to address regular toxic outbreaks of these blue green algae; the toxins have been linked to liver disease and neurological disorders in humans, as well as blamed for sickening and killing dogs.

So far, no state has set limits on the toxic algae – I urge you to have Florida set the precedent and be the first.

Our waters need to be safer for all to enjoy – including our beloved pets. Thank you for taking the time to review my comments and concerns, Kaitlyn.

All the best,
Rebecca Hodges | 33470
