

An aerial photograph showing a large area of land, primarily forested, with a patchwork of agricultural fields and some water bodies. Two distinct blocks of land are highlighted in a light green color. The northern block is outlined with a red border, and the southern block is outlined with a blue border. A red line separates the two blocks, following a natural contour. A road, marked with a '47' shield, runs along the right edge of the southern block. The text labels for each block are centered within their respective areas.
